

Privacy Policy and Brazilian LGPD

QA Lab Brasil | English version | Last updated: September 24, 2026

Governing law. This Policy is governed by Brazilian law, especially Law No. 13,709/2018 - the Brazilian General Data Protection Law (LGPD) - and applicable rules and guidance issued by the Brazilian National Data Protection Authority (ANPD). This English version is provided as an informational translation. In case of any inconsistency of interpretation between language versions, the Portuguese version and applicable Brazilian law shall prevail.

1. Purpose and scope

This Policy explains how QA Lab Brasil may collect, use, store, protect and delete personal data related to the website, forms, newsletter and contact channels. It applies to personal data processed in connection with QA Lab Brasil features.

2. Data protection principles

Personal data processing should follow the principles established by the LGPD, including purpose, adequacy, necessity, free access, data quality, transparency, security, prevention, non-discrimination, accountability and demonstration of compliance.

3. Personal data we may process

Depending on the feature used, we may process data voluntarily provided by the user, such as name, email address, content submitted through forms and records of consent to receive communications.

For the newsletter, name is optional and an email address is required. Express consent is requested before subscription. QA Lab Brasil does not request sensitive personal data through the newsletter.

4. Purposes of processing

Personal data may be used to respond to contacts and requests; manage newsletter subscriptions; send news, content, tools, simulations and updates; maintain the security and integrity of features; comply with legal or regulatory obligations; and establish, exercise or defend rights when necessary.

5. Legal bases

Newsletter communications are processed on the basis of the data subject's consent, which may be withdrawn at any time. Other processing activities, where applicable, may rely on other legal bases available under the LGPD according to the specific purpose and legal requirements.

6. Double opt-in and newsletter consent

Newsletter subscription uses a double opt-in process. After submitting the form, the user receives a message asking them to confirm the email address. Subscription is completed only after this confirmation.

Users may unsubscribe at any time using the mechanisms provided in communications or by requesting cancellation through the QA Lab Brasil contact channel.

7. Sharing and service providers

QA Lab Brasil may use service providers strictly necessary to operate the website and its features. Brevo is used to manage and send the newsletter and may process data on behalf of QA Lab Brasil for delivery, subscription confirmation and contact management.

Other infrastructure, hosting, security or communication providers may process data only to the extent necessary to provide their services and subject to applicable contractual and legal obligations.

8. International data transfers

Some technology providers may use infrastructure or subprocessors outside Brazil. Where international transfers of personal data occur, they must comply with the LGPD and applicable ANPD regulations.

9. Retention and deletion

Personal data is retained for as long as necessary to fulfill the stated purposes, comply with legal or regulatory obligations and protect the regular exercise of rights. Data processed on the basis of consent may be deleted when consent is withdrawn, subject to lawful retention exceptions.

10. Security

Reasonable and proportionate technical and administrative measures are adopted to reduce risks of unauthorized access, loss, alteration, disclosure or improper processing. No digital environment is completely risk-free, and security controls and practices may be continuously updated.

11. Data subject rights

Under the LGPD, data subjects may, where applicable, request confirmation of processing, access, correction, anonymization, blocking or deletion of unnecessary or unlawfully processed data, portability, information about sharing, deletion of consent-based data, information about the consequences of refusing consent, withdrawal of consent and review of automated decisions in the cases provided by law.

Rights should first be exercised directly with the controller. If the data subject believes the request was not adequately addressed, they may use the channels provided by the ANPD and, where applicable, consumer protection authorities.

12. Children and adolescents

QA Lab Brasil does not direct its newsletter toward the intentional collection of children's personal data. If a feature later involves personal data of children or adolescents, processing must comply with the specific requirements of applicable Brazilian law.

13. Third-party links and services

The website may contain links to third-party pages, tools or services. Those third parties have their own privacy practices, and users should review their policies before providing personal data.

14. Changes to this Policy

This Policy may be updated to reflect changes to QA Lab Brasil features, service providers, or applicable laws and regulations. The date of the current version will be shown at the beginning of the document.

15. Contact

For privacy, data protection, newsletter or data subject rights matters, contact:
contato@qualityassurancebrasil.com.br.

16. Official legal references

Brazilian Law No. 13,709/2018 - General Data Protection Law (LGPD), as amended and in force.

Brazilian National Data Protection Authority (ANPD) - official guidance on data subject rights and personal data protection.

Official source: Presidency of the Republic of Brazil - Law No. 13,709/2018 (LGPD).

Official source: Brazilian National Data Protection Authority (ANPD) - Data Subject Rights.